

MIDDLEGROUND CAPITAL ANALYST, INVESTMENT TEAM

Company

MiddleGround Capital (“MiddleGround”) is an operationally focused lower middle market private equity firm with offices in New York City and Lexington, KY. MiddleGround specializes in making control equity investments in North American companies in the business-to-business (“B2B”) industrial and specialty distribution sectors with enterprise values up to $200M.

MiddleGround was co-founded by John Stewart, Lauren Mulholland and Scot Duncan (the “Partners”) in 2018. The Partners had previously worked together for seven years in private equity. In addition, John and Scot have worked together for more than 22 years, including 18 and 15 years, respectively, at Toyota Motor Corporation. Together, the Partners possess deep experience deploying an operationally-focused investment strategy to build value in lower middle market companies. MiddleGround was founded on precisely that premise: committing to investing in the lower middle market while building a sustainable franchise for the long term.

Responsibilities

The Analyst on the Investment team will be an integral team member and will be responsible for analyzing companies in which the firm is considering making an investment. Illustrative responsibilities include tracking deal flow, review and analysis of potential transactions, creation of models to evaluate such transactions and preparation of internal memorandums regarding such evaluation.

Qualifications

The successful candidate will be a resourceful self-starter with an entrepreneurial mindset and team-first mentality. A track record of excellence and exceptional work ethic are key qualities of an ideal candidate. This person will be detail-oriented with superior analytical, quantitative and organizational skills and will have the ability to effectively manage large quantities of information. He/she will be capable of concurrently handling a wide variety of tasks and be able to quickly shift priorities yet maintain focus.

Timing

MiddleGround is expecting to hire one Analyst to start full-time in January 2021 in New York City as well as two Analysts in Summer 2021, one in New York City and one in Lexington, KY. Interviews for both start dates are expected to begin in December 2020.

Compensation

MiddleGround offers a competitive compensation and benefits package.
